

The Magi Alchemist

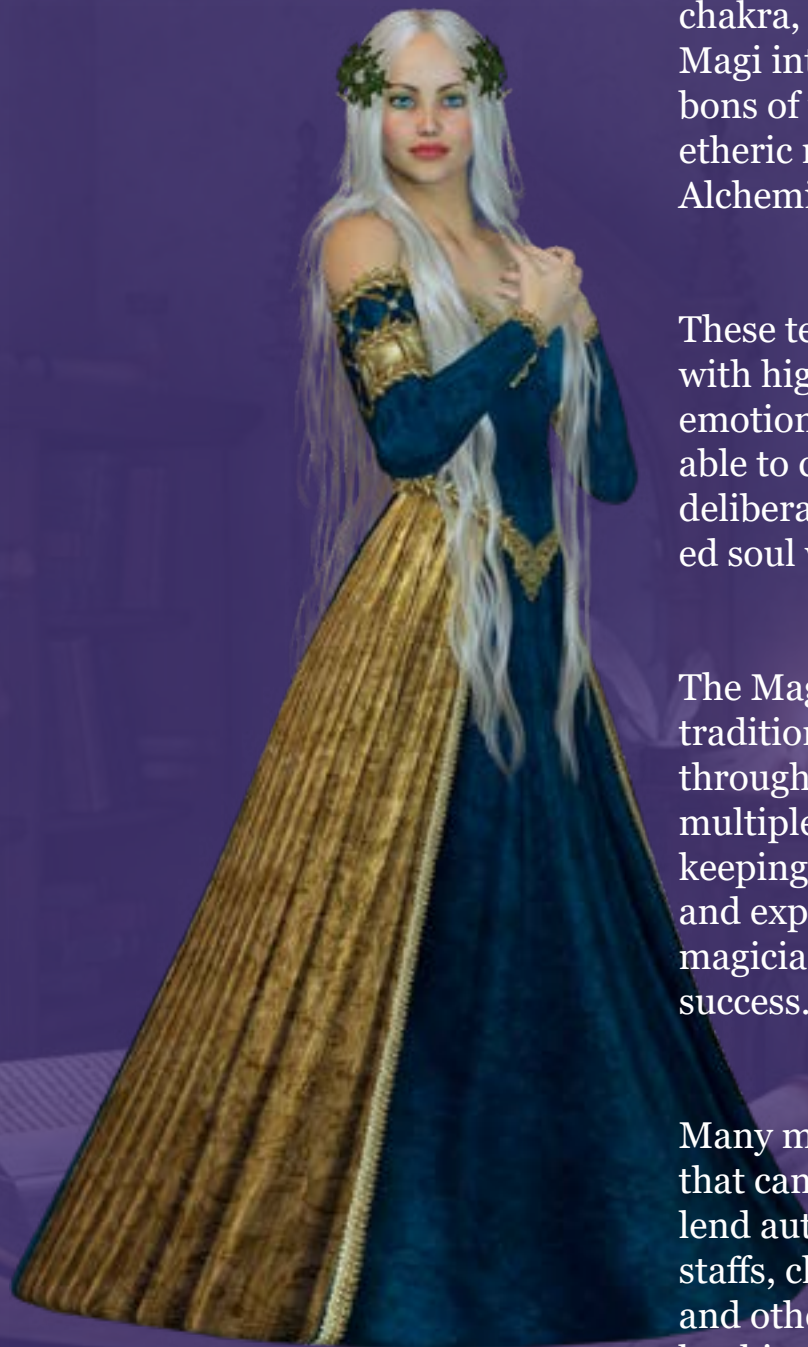

Immortal Soul Line VII

Deliberate Magick Creates Alternate Realities

Building Worlds with Magickal Intention

The crown vortex, the seventh energy chakra, expands the mental world of the Magi into divine dimensions. Violet ribbons of vibrational patterns reach into the etheric realms through the direction of the Alchemist. These tendrils bridge the third dimension with higher fields where thoughts and emotions reside. The talented mage is then able to create alternate realities based on deliberate thought projection and dedicated soul work.

The crown vortex, the seventh energy chakra, expands the mental world of the Magi into divine dimensions. Violet ribbons of vibrational patterns reach into the etheric realms through the direction of the Alchemist.

These tendrils bridge the third dimension with higher fields where thoughts and emotions reside. The talented mage is then able to create alternate realities based on deliberate thought projection and dedicated soul work.

The Magi Alchemist has a deep respect for tradition and for those things attainable through legacies handed down through multiple generations. Detailed record keeping, elaborate correspondence tables, and explicit rituals are all things a serious magician might deem important to their success.

Many mages also collect priceless tools that can enhance their concentration and lend authenticity to their work. Wands, staffs, chalices, athames, crystals, icons, and other magical items may be cherished by this soul line.

These souls are often blessed with extensive intellects and naturally align themselves with scientific principles. They admire experiments that can be recorded and replicated. As a result, they might become too focused on material proof and forget the true source of their magic.

This misplaced power can also occur if they place too much emphasis on their beloved tools. At the deepest level, all magick is created and performed on the inner planes. Remembering this truth will enable the Immortal Magi to reach their goals and achieve their desired outcomes.

Do you feel drawn to images of wizards, warlocks, and witches? Are you attracted to sources of traditional magick? Do you enjoy studying about ancient magickal practices?

Do you tend to base your decisions more on intellect than emotion? Are you confident that you can eventually learn how to create and manifest the reality you desire?

If this information resonates with your inner beliefs about magick and reality creation, then you may share the legendary spiritual gifts of the Immortal Magi Soul Line. By allowing yourself to spend time and energy learning your craft, you'll become the Magician you envision.

With wands, staffs, or test-tubes in hand, you'll be able to create the future you most desire. Under your tutelage, we can all learn how to manifest our dreams. By mastering the principles of high magick, we can elevate the souls of all humanity!

The Magi Alchemist is my Primary Soul Line!

To Explore Another Soul Line,
Click on an Icon Below.

